

ENO'S SEVEN WILLS READ;
COLUMBIA NAMED IN LAST

Counsel Seeks to Establish That Bequest to University Showed Undue Influence.

Reading of the seven wills left by the late Amos F. Eno occupied most of the day in the hearing before Surrogate John P. Cohalan.

Mr. Eno, whose silk business was ruined by the Civil War, but who,
thirty-five years afterward, paid every cent he owed with interest and then built up a big fortune, developed a fondness for drawing up wills.

Former Surrogate Charles H. Beckett of counsel for the contestants, among whom are Gifford and Amos R. E.
Pinchot, read the wills, the earliest of which is dated July 28, 1906. A string of others followed until the final one, dated June 18, 1915, which leaves from $5,000,000 to $7,000,000 to Columbia University. Mr. Beckett read all the wills to show that Columbia is mentioned in only one of the documents and to strengthen the claim that Mr. Eno was not in his right mind and that improper influences were used on him when he signed the final document.

MISFORTUNE TO REJECT
BRANDEIS, SAYS ELIOT

Former President of Harvard, in Letter, Calls Supreme Court Nominee Public Spirited Altruist.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Chairman
Culberson of the Senate Judiciary Committee to-day made public the letter he received last week from Charles W. Eliot, President Emeritus of Harvard, endorsing the nomination of Louis D. Brandeis to the Supreme Court. A. Lawrence Lowell, President of Harvard, has opposed confirmation.

Mr. Eliot's letter follows:
"I have known Mr. Louis D. Brandeis for forty years and believe that I understand his capacities and his character. He was a distinguished student in the Harvard Law School in 1885-86. He possessed by nature a keen intelligence, quick and generous sympathies, a remarkable capacity for labor and a character in which gentleness, courage and joy in combat were intimately blended.

"His professional career has exhibited all these qualities and with them much practical altruism and public spirit. He has sometimes advocated measures or policies which did not commend themselves to me.
But I have never questioned his honesty and sincerity, or his desire for justice. He has become a learned jurist.

"Under present circumstances I believe that the rejection by the Senate of his nomination to the Supreme Court would be a grave misfortune for the whole legal profession, the court, of American business and the country."

The Judiciary Committee will vote
Wednesday on the nomination.

The Film Novel of the Hour!

...the Spy escapes from the Submarine!

—He had dared death to seek "the secret of the submarine"—for his country! He had fought the whole crew—beaten the inventor—shot part of the invention to bits—stunned the U. S. naval investigator! His smoking revolver covered his retreat up through the hatch, the new opening device of which he understood. A hated spy—with one chance of life—he struggled through the torrent pouring into the subsea boat, wrenched himself free and plunged into the salty flood! Behind him—the submarine shipping water at a terrific rate through the open hatch, began to founder—and go down!

Pictures How the
U. S. Can Smash
Any Enemy Navy!

Today see the start of the most remarkable motion picture production ever shown on any screen—a triumph of the film that stirs the red blood of every American! Here is not only one of the most absorbing plots, one of the most elusive mysteries, one of the most daring international intrigues ever pictured, but the greatest naval invention-idea of the age, the possession of which may decide the destiny of our country! The U. S. government can do well to pay millions for "The Secret of the Submarine!" Will we secure it? Will this submarine idea some day—maybe near at hand—save our nation and our flag?

Thomas A. Edison, Chairman of the National Defense Board, is credited with this statement—which lays the basis for this astounding film masterpiece:

"To my mind there is no reason why an under-sea boat should not be supplied with a fish-gill-like apparatus, so that it can draw its supply of air directly from the water. Thus the lives of the crew will not be dependent upon the compressed air supply or... the ability of the boat to reach the surface. When this invention is perfected submarine navigation will be perfectly safe and secretive."

Indeed—as you will realize when you see "The Secret of the Submarine," such subsea boats could smash the navies of the whole world!!

You Have Never Seen a Motion Picture Play Like This!

You have never witnessed events that lay such a grip on you, as of steel fingers on your heart strings—such as are shown in "The Secret of the Submarine"! You have never felt the call of your country so powerfully before. See "The Secret of the Submarine" and realize why men fight and die for "Old Glory!"

E. Alexander Powell, the well-known war correspondent, author of the novelization of "The Secret of the Submarine"—which has begun to appear in this newspaper—for a time took charge of the U. S. Consulate in Belgium during the present struggle. He knows foreign navies, foreign submarines. He knows what "The Secret of the Submarine" means to this country—what a calamity it would be to allow another nation to secure it! He knows—and that's why his story is a message that fairly leaps from the screen to impress itself upon you! The motion pictures are true to every stirring adventure, every smashing climax of Mr. Powell's truly wonderful narrative. Read the story! See the pictures.

This Submarine Would Revolutionize Naval Warfare!

—would be a greater terror to dreadnaughts than Ericsson's monitor was to frigates a half century ago! A submarine equipped—as shown in "The Secret of the Submarine"—could remain submerged indefinitely because IT WOULD GET ITS AIR SUPPLY DIRECT FROM THE WATER! Such a U. S. Submarine could scour all the oceans, enter any enemy harbor and sink whole fleets of battleships. Owning this secret, the U. S. could defy the world!!

The Search of "The Secret" Covers the Globe

No more thrilling events, astounding changes were ever filmed! The aged inventor endeavors to keep his secret for his country—but other nations learn of it. So does a sordid millionaire! The smashing of the great apparatus and murder of the old inventor, leaves the secret in a book of his scientific library—which passes from hand to hand, from city to city—to London, Paris, Petrograd and back to U. S. soil. The fight of nations for its possession follows it everywhere and there is a mystery within a mystery which millions will try to solve.

Enormous Fortunes Spent on
This Production

Thousands of dollars—thousands upon thousands—were lavished on "The Secret of the Submarine," to carry out the epoch-marking idea and globe-girdling search! Tremendous effects—costly settings were provided at monumental expense! The government loaned submarines and big naval crews.

"The Secret of the Submarine" has been produced by the American Film Company, Inc., under the direct supervision of Samuel S. Hutchinson, the master producer who conceived the idea of picturing America's great submarine opportunity in a wonderful film play!

A great company enacts the play—headed by Thomas Chatterton, the popular leading man, as the U. S. naval investigator and beautiful Juanita Hansen, the film favorite, as the inventor's daring daughter. Every character is given a powerful impersonation that leaves an indelible impression on you.

Scenes That Electrify!

Brilliant photography gives you—in "The Secret of the Submarine"—the full effect of the submarine adventures of the company, the fight undersea with the spy, the near-destruction of submarine and crew—later thrilling adventures with anarchists, in the Arctic circle, in New Zealand, at Cape Cod and at the great European centers whither the terrific chase leads!
